

My Subscribe and Save item is backordered or out of stock. What can I do?

The Dr. Axe online store team seeks to always keep items in stock and available but occasionally we have a higher volume of orders than expected. The manufacturing and shipping team is working very hard to get your items back in stock.

In the meantime, we can swap out your out of stock item for a similar item in another flavor, remove this item from your order for this month, or ship the remainder of your order now and send your out of stock item the moment it is available.

Feel free to connect with our Customer Service team by phone at 855-803-1275 for any additional questions!
